New Republic Partners Invests in Innovation Fertility

Investment provides capital to support long-term growth strategy

CHARLOTTE, November 3, 2022 — New Republic Partners announced today an investment in Innovation Fertility, a specialty management services organization supporting medical practices that provide IVF services and infertility care across the country. The firm joined with Albaron Partners, the current owner of the company, to provide capital to support the long-term growth strategy of the healthcare platform.

The $8B U.S. fertility market includes in-vitro fertilization, genetic testing, reproductive tissue storage and donor services. This market continues to benefit from long-term demand drivers and strong growth rates.

Sam Bowles, managing director at New Republic Partners, says, “Albaron Partner’s deep experience in this industry coupled with strong market expansion opportunities makes this an attractive investment opportunity.”

Innovation Fertility is led by Dwight Ryan, chief executive officer, who has extensive experience in the infertility industry and is a seasoned executive with financial, accounting and operations experience within the healthcare sector.

Innovation Fertility provides its medical affiliates with capital solutions, practice and lab buildouts and upgrades, physician management, payor contracting, group purchasing and lab staffing. The group focuses on the business of medicine to allow its affiliated physicians to stay focused on the practice of medicine.

The organization’s growth strategies include plans to invest in practices across the U.S. to enable practice growth and profitability. Current investment holdings include practices in North Carolina, Ohio and Michigan.
